

East Midlands Conference and Jubilee Lecture

28 June 2011

John Foster Hall, University of Leicester

'Changing times, changing practice'

The East Midlands Conference will feature a line up of exciting plenary and working sessions. Plenary sessions will be delivered by Dave Hall, Registrar & Secretary, University of Leicester and June Hughes, Registrar, University of Derby on 'Our profession, today and tomorrow'

The conference will offer delegates the opportunity to reflect upon the place of the profession in the sector and how it will need to adapt in the new environment. It will offer the opportunity to develop both skills and knowledge, which will help managers and administrators face the challenging times in the sector. Sessions will cover:

- different approaches to change management and the skills needed to develop
- different ways of working through partnerships
- the changing external environment
- coping with fewer resources

Bookings are now open for the full day conference and the Jubilee Lecture. The Conference is £75 for AUA members and £145 for non-members, and the Jubilee Lecture is free to all AUA members. For more information visit www.aua.ac.uk/events/annual/eastmidlands/index.htm
